INTRODUCTION TO APA

IPU NEW ZEALAND POLICY

Assignments at IPU New Zealand should be written according to the American Psychological Association (APA) 7th edition system, which is used by many other tertiary institutions in New Zealand.

This handbook contains a summary of the set of rules you will use to format your assignments and reference your sources according to this system. The IPU New Zealand Library also has a number of books covering APA style, including the publication manual of the American Psychological Association (7th ed.):

American Psychological Association. (2019). Publication manual of the American Psychological Association (7th ed.). APA.

In addition, you may like to refer to the APA website: <https://apastyle.apa.org> and the APA Style blog: <https://apastyle.apa.org/blog/>.

You can also ask your lecturers, IPU's librarians, or Academic Learning Support Centre staff for help.

Using the APA 7 referencing and style system is always overwhelming at first but, with practice, it becomes a familiar set of rules that help you develop academic writing skills and improve the quality of your work!

APA 7 STYLE GUIDELINES

ASSIGNMENT PRESENTATION

Your academic assignment should be written and presented in a formal style, unless your lecturer has given you other instructions. There are two general rules:

- Your assignment should be clear with an organised flow of ideas
- You should be consistent; that is, use the same system throughout the assignment

A formal academic style follows rules called “academic conventions” and these are outlined by APA 7. Using academic conventions means that the lecturer can focus on your ideas, and not be distracted by the format or style of your work. This section of the handbook covers these conventions.

APA STYLE

1.1 Cover page

Each assignment should have a cover page. You can find an IPU New Zealand assignment cover page template in the Student Information section on Moodle.

1.2 Font

Use Times New Roman or Calibri, and font size 12 for the text of your assignment. The same font and font size is used throughout the paper, including headings and page numbers.

1.3 Line spacing

Use 1.5 or double spacing (check with your lecturer).

1.4 Margins and text alignment

Your left and right hand margins should be set at 2.5 cm.

Text is aligned at the left margin but ragged at the right margin. This is called flush-left style.

1.5 Page numbering

1.6 Headings and subheadings

Headings and subheadings are used to help guide the reader through an academic paper. All topics of equal importance have the same level of heading/subheading. For example, each major section (e.g. Background, Discussion, and Conclusion) should start with a heading in font size 14.

- Headings are in font size 14 or 16 bold.
- Subheadings are in font size 12 bold (most commonly used) or italics.
- Do not underline headings or subheadings.
- Avoid using a subheading if it will be the only one in a section.

Note: APA 7 has new guidelines for the 5 heading levels; however, for now, IPU will continue to use its current style of formatting. Always check with your lecturer as to what they require regarding headings and numbering for your assignments.

1.7 Paragraphs

There are two options to indicate the start of a new paragraph:

- Indent to indicate the start of a new paragraph (7 spaces /1.27 cm). Use the tab key. Do not insert a space between paragraphs (the image on the opposite page shows the indent style).
- Using block style, insert a space between each paragraph (i.e., do not indent).

1.8 Footnotes

In the APA system, footnotes are used to give extra information which the author feels would disturb the flow of the writing, but these are not used for citations (check with your lecturer).

1.9 Word count

The word count of your assignment includes the main text, quotations, headings and subheadings, in-text citations, and table and figure captions (check with your lecturer).

1.10 Lists

Bulleted and numbered lists should be used carefully in formal academic writing. This is because lists only provide surface-level information and since the focus of academic writing is to demonstrate your critical thinking, it is expected that you communicate your ideas in complete sentences and paragraphs. Therefore, bulleted lists are not used in essays; however, they may be appropriate in reports (e.g., in the Recommendations section). Always check with your lecturer.

Following are some general points regarding lists; for more information, please refer to the APA Publication Manual.

LETTERED LISTS

Lettered lists can be used within a sentence to help readers understand a related set of key points and draw attention to them. Use lowercase letters in parentheses and commas or semi-colons between items. For example:

Participants provided information about their (a) level of education; (b) income, specified at the family level; (c) occupation, including both specific role and industry; and (d) family size.

NUMBERED LISTS

Use a numbered list to display complete sentences in a sentence or paragraph. For example:

The research was guided by the following research questions:

- What research methods are used to examine the effects of cultural competency training?
- How are psychologists trained to be culturally competent?

BULLETED LISTS

If bulleted list items are complete sentences, begin each sentence with a capital letter and finish it with a full stop. For example:

These are several ways in which psychologists could apply social-media-driven methods to improve their work:

- Social psychologists could use these methods to improve research on emotional experiences.
- Community psychologists could use these methods to improve research on emotional experiences.

If bulleted list items are not complete sentences, begin each bulleted item with a lower case letter and with end punctuation (when items are longer). For example:

Adolescents may crave the opportunities for peer connection that social media affords because it allows them to:

- communicate privately with individuals or publicly with a larger audience,
- see how their number of friends and followers compare with those of their peers, and
- seek affirmation by posting pictures and receiving likes or comments (Underwood & Ehrenreich, 2017)

Without end punctuation (when items are shorter and simpler). For example:

The major employment sectors in Palmerston North include:

- logistics and freight
- food innovation
- agribusiness

1.11 Presenting numbers

The APA style has guidelines regarding how you should present numbers in your writing:

Use numerals for the following:

- numbers 10 and above (unless it starts a sentence)
- statistical numbers (e.g., 2.1)
- times (e.g., 1 hr 58 min); ages (e.g., 3 years old); dates (e.g., May 7)
- exact sums of money (e.g., $15)
- numbers used as numerals (e.g., when used in a chart)
- books (e.g., Chapter 3)
- percentages (e.g., 13%) unless it starts a sentence
- numbers that come before a unit of measurement (e.g., 28 cm)

Use words (one, two, three etc.) for the following:

- Numbers zero through nine (e.g., eight people)
- Numbers starting a sentence, title or heading (e.g., Nineteen people attended ...)

Use commas when writing long numbers which are 1,000 or more (e.g., 6,000).

1.12 Symbols for percentage and currency

Use the percentage symbol and currency symbols only when they are accompanied by a numeral, or in table and figure headings to conserve space. Use the word “percentage” or the name of the currency when a number is not given. Repeat the symbol for a range of percentages or quantities of currency. For example:

- 18%-20%; $30-$60
- in Australian dollars; in U.S. dollars
- the percentage of goods contributing to...
- $10, €10, £9.95, ¥100- ¥500

1.13 Italics

ITALICISING WORDS FROM LANGUAGES OTHER THAN ENGLISH

Italicise (only for the first occurrence) a word, phrase or abbreviation from another language when readers may be unfamiliar with it. Do not italicise it if it can be found in the English dictionary (e.g., o-bento is italicised but “rendezvous” is not). Also do not italicise if the term is a proper noun (e.g., Médecins Sans Frontières - Doctors Without Borders).

When a foreign word is used, its English translation should be provided by either using

- inverted commas “xxx”. For example:
 - The Japanese o-bento, or “boxed meal”, can be taken anywhere (Shimizu, 2014).
- square brackets []. For example:
 - The Japanese o-bento [boxed meal] can be taken anywhere (Shimizu, 2014).

ITALICISING THE TITLE OF A WORK IN YOUR TEXT

Italicise the titles of the following types of work if you refer to them in the text of your assignment. In addition, use title case; that is, use capital letters for the first word of the title, proper nouns and all other major words (four letters or more); do not use capitals for minor words (e.g., prepositions, articles).

- whole books, reports, grey literature, theses; for example
 - In her book The Best and the Brightest, Mai Son (2013) explores the factors that ...
 - The World Development Report 2019: The Changing Nature of Work (World Bank, 2019) focuses on the global impact of technology on work and jobs.
- periodicals (e.g., The TESOL journal The Modern Language Journal...)
- films (e.g., The New Zealand movie Boy...)
- webpages and websites (e.g., The website Verywellmind ...)
- videos and TV shows (e.g., The current affairs programme, 60 Minutes...)

Note: For journal articles or edited book chapters, use double quotations as these are parts of larger works. For example: In the article “The Importance of Media Portrayals and Person Perception,” Parker (2018) argues that the media play a pivotal role in...

Also, use italics

- when introducing a key term or phrase (e.g., Mindfulness is defined as....; the student group in the research was labelled Domestic).
- for anchors of a scale, but not the number (e.g., ranged from 1 (poor) to 5 (excellent);

1.14 Quotation Marks

Use double quotation marks

- to refer to a letter, word, phrase, or sentence as a linguistic example, or as itself
 - the letter “m”
 - the singular form of “they”
 - answer “yes” or “no”
 - participants have to choose between the choices “agree”, “disagree”, and “other”
 - students must include “I have adhered to ethical considerations” at the top of the page
- to introduce a word or phrase used as an ironic comment, as slang, or as an expression
 - considered “normal behaviour.” (first occurrence)
 - therefore, normal behaviour has come to mean ... (subsequent occurrence)

Note: Place commas and full stops inside closing quotation marks. Place other punctuation marks (e.g., colons, semicolons) outside closed quotation marks.

1.15 Job titles and positions

Capitalise a job title or position when the title precedes a name. For example:

- Prime Minister Adern was elected in 2017.
- Executive Director of Marketing, Carolina Espinoza, led the meeting.

Do not capitalise a job title or position when the title follows the name or refers to a position in general. For example:

- Donald Trump was the president of the United States.
- John Bolt, the company’s chief engineer, led the meeting.
- Dr William S. Speare, a professor of English, conducted extensive research on the Globe Theatre.

1.16 Abbreviations

You can use an abbreviation for a word or phrase if you are going to use it at least three times in your assignment; otherwise, spell out the word/phrase completely each time you use it. However, you can use, from its first occurrence, the standard abbreviation of a long, familiar term (e.g., UNESCO) or an abbreviation that is listed as a term in the dictionary (e.g., IQ, AIDS).

- When the full version of a term first occurs in a sentence, place the abbreviation in parentheses after it. For example:
 - attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD) is a mental health disorder...
 - the United Nations (UN) reported that ...
- When the full version of a term first occurs in parentheses, place the abbreviation in square brackets after it. For example:
 - causing disruptive behavior (e.g., attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder [ADHD])
- If a citation accompanies an abbreviation, include the citation after the abbreviation, separated with a semicolon. For example,
 - Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs; UN, 2010)
 - (Sustainable Development Goals [SDGs]; UN, 2010)

1.17 Appendices

Sometimes you need to add additional information, such as a questionnaire, into your assignment. This should go in an appendix. Include an appendix only if it helps readers understand, evaluate or replicate the study or theoretical argument being made.

- Each appendix should be mentioned at least once in the text by its label (e.g., see Appendix A).
- Place the appendix label and title in bold and centred on separate lines at the top of the page on which the appendix begins.
- Use title case for the appendix label and title.
- Where there is more than one appendix, label each with a capital letter (e.g. Appendix A, Appendix B, etc.), according to the order they appear in the body of the assignment.
- Begin each appendix on a new page.
- Attach appendices after the reference list.
- Continue page numbering into the appendices.

1.18 Figures and tables

Tables and figures are used to complement information in the text or to simplify the text.

- Place the table or figure below the paragraph in which you first refer to it. Use a phrase to refer to the table/figure in the sentence or refer to it in parentheses at the end of the sentence. For example
 - As shown in Figure 1, the numbers of overseas visitors to New Zealand significantly increased between 2015 and 2018.
 - The numbers of overseas visitors to New Zealand significantly increased between 2015 and 2018 (see Figure 1).
 - Table 2 summarises the contributions of broad industry groups and households to the increase in greenhouse gases.
 - Overall, the contributions of broad industry groups to the increase in greenhouse gases are much higher than those of households (Table 2).
- Align all tables and figures with the left margin
- Tables and figures are labelled in bold and numbered in the order in which they are presented in your assignment (i.e. Table 1, Table 2/Figure 1, Figure 2 etc.).

- The title appears one double-spaced line below the table or figure label, and is written in italics and title case (e.g., Overseas Visitors to New Zealand, 2010-2019).
- A note can appear, if necessary, below the table/figure to describe contents that cannot be understood from the information provided. Notes are double-spaced and left aligned.
- Referencing tables and figures:
APA has strict rules about crediting images, figures or tables that have been reproduced or copied.
 - If you copy the table/figure directly, use (Author, Year, Page number/n.p.g.) for the in-text citation and include the source on the reference list.
 - If you have altered the table/figure, use (Adapted from Author, Year, Page number/n.p.g) for the in-text citation and include the source on the reference list .
 - No in-text citation or reference list entry is needed if you created a figure or table using your own data.

Note: See the APA Publication Manual for more detailed information about citing images, tables and figures.

TABLES

A table usually gives numerical values and/or textual information. They are characterised by a row-column structure and should include column headings. Column headings are centred.

For example:

Table 1

Trajectories of E-Cigarette Use from Baseline to 1-Month Follow-Up

		1-month follow-up ^a
			Used e-cigarettes	Did not use e-cigarettes
Baseline	Used e-cigarettes	36 (8.41%)	Continued	Stopped
			16 (44.44%)	20 (55.56%)
	Did not use e-cigarettes	392 (91.59%)	New	Continued non-users
			14 (3.57%)	375 (95.66%)
	Total	428	30 (7.01%)	395 (92.29%)

(Chiang et al., 2019, p.964)

The reference list entry for this table is as follows:

FIGURES

A figure is any type of illustration or image other than a table; it may be a chart, a graph, a photograph, a drawing. Include any legend / key which explains the symbols used in the figure image. For example:

Figure 1

Consumers Price Index, Annual Change, September 2016-September 2020

(StatsNZ, 2020, n.p.g.)

The reference list entry for this figure will be as follows:

1. AVOIDING BIAS IN LANGUAGE

One aim of academic language is that it is clear, objective and inclusive. You do not want to alienate your readers. Therefore, try to avoid making generalisations about gender, ethnicity, race, sexual orientation, social class, or physical or mental traits. Here are examples of language to use. You can find further information at <https://apastyle.apa.org/style-grammar-guidelines/bias-free-language/>

EXAMPLES OF BIASED TERMS	ALTERNATIVE TERMS TO USE
Age - use age ranges which are relevant
Elderly Young People	e.g. People 65 years and older e.g. Young people between the ages of 18 and 25
Disability - put people first, not their disability

a disabled person/handicapped the mentally ill e.g. The special education student scored 10 points higher.	a person with a disability people with a mental illness e.g. The student in a special education programme scored 10 points higher.
Ethnicity
indigenous people minorities	Indigenous People (capitalise when a group is being referred to; e.g., Indigeneous People of Australia) members of minority groups
Gender – avoid gender stereotypes opposite sex homosexual e.g. In her classroom, the teacher must have a management plan. e.g. A student should hand in his essay.	another sex gay male/man; lesbian; bisexual men and women e.g. In the classroom, the teacher must have a management plan. e.g. Students should hand in their essays.
Groups
mother tongue the homeless poor families	native tongue people who are homeless families with income below $XXXX
Occupations - do not specify the sex of the person if it is not part of your discussion a policeman waiter/waitress e.g. The male nurse walked into the hospital ward.	police officer server; wait staff e.g. The nurse walked into the hospital ward.
Role references
chairman businessman	chairperson business person
EXAMPLES OF BIASED TERMS	ALTERNATIVE TERMS TO USE
Research participants - use words that show participation
research subjects questionnaire subjects	research participants questionnaire respondents
Other stereotypes

man-made manpower	synthetic; manufactured personnel; staff

APA 7 REFERENCING GUIDELINES

WHAT IS REFERENCING?

Referencing is acknowledging the source/s of the information, ideas, words, and images you have used in your assignment. In Western academic tradition, when a person has an idea, they own it as their intellectual property. To show this, they usually publish it somewhere. If you copy this person's work or paraphrase without providing the source, it is regarded as a particular kind of theft called plagiarism.

Overall, you use referencing

- to distinguish between your ideas and words, and those that belong to other people;
- to acknowledge the contribution of other writers/researchers in your assignment;
- to provide evidence to strengthen your arguments/claims;
- to enable readers to investigate ideas they find interesting or useful;
- to show your lecturer which sources you have read and your understanding of the topic; and
- to avoid plagiarism (see IPU's "Academic Honesty Policy" in the Student Study Guides). You will be required to submit your work electronically so that it can be put through Turnitin, a software for checking plagiarism. Plagiarised assignments are not acceptable and can result in you failing your assignment and, if a high percentage of plagiarism continues, your paper.

This section of the handbook provides information about how to reference sources according to their type.

3. REFERENCING SOURCES

Referencing has two parts: in-text citations in the body of your assignment and a reference list (a complete list of sources) at the end of your assignment. The information you give in these two parts must correspond.

There are four basic elements to a reference:

(1) Author's name. (2) Year of publication. (3) Title of the work. (4) Publication information.

In-text citations consist of the first two elements while a reference list entry consists of all four elements.

3.1 In-text Citations

In-text citations can be presented in two ways: in parentheses at the end of the sentence (parenthetical citations) or incorporated in the sentence (narrative citations).

PARENTHETICAL CITATIONS

The in-text citation is placed at the end of the sentence if the focus is on the information of the original source. For example,

It was found that reading helps students to improve their writing skills (Smith, 2017).

Note: The full stop for the end of the sentence comes after the citation.

CITING MULTIPLE DIFFERENT SOURCES IN THE SAME PARENTHESES

If a sentence contains information paraphrased from several works, you can include each work in a single set of parentheses at the end of the sentence. The works are arranged alphabetically by author, and are separated by a semi-colon. For example:

(Conger & Scheiber, 2019; Hawkins, 2019; Romo, 2019).

NARRATIVE CITATIONS

The in-text citation is included as part of the sentence if the focus is on the author of the original work and the ideas that author puts forward. For example:

Based on his findings, Smith (2017) concluded that reading helped students to improve their writing skills.

ABBREVIATING GROUPS/ORGANISATIONS AS AUTHORS

If groups/organisations have an abbreviation that is well-known, or appears at least three times in your assignment, then use it in the second and subsequent citations. For example:

First citation:

- The United Nations Development Programme (UNDP, 2019) outlines factors ...
- Commas are very under-rated (American Psychological Association [APA], n.d.).

Second and subsequent citations:

- In addition, the UNDP (2019) published findings in its report...
- While APA (n.d.) guidelines state that punctuation is...

Note: In the reference list, use the full name of the group/organisation. For more information, see section 1.16 in this handbook.

You also need to include page/paragraph numbers in your in-text citations for

- paraphrases and summaries, especially of key ideas (check with your lecturer). For example:
Importantly, students from around the world significantly improved their writing skills (Smith, 2017, pp. 21-23).
- direct quotations. A direct quotation uses the exact words of the author of the work you are using. Direct quotations should be used only for important ideas that cannot be expressed differently or sayings that are famous, distinctive or beautifully worded (see following section).

QUOTATIONS

For print works, such as books, provide the page number/s. For example:

As Myers (2015, p. 5) points out, “positive emotions are a means to a more caring society.”

As Myers (2015) points out, “positive emotions are a means to a more caring society” (p.5).

For online works, provide the page number or paragraph number (use “para.”) or no page given (n.p.g.). For example:

As Myers (2015, para. 2) points out, “positive emotions are a means to a more caring society.”

As Myers (2015) points out, “positive emotions are a means to a more caring society” (para. 2).

Quotations less than 40 words

If a direct quotation is less than 40 words, put it into the text, and use double quotation marks around the words. For example:

The event was referred to as “the most devastating in the history of the city” (Miele, 2013, p. 276).

Miele (2013) referred to the event as “the most devastating in the history of the city” (p.276).

Quotations of 40 words or more

If a quotation is 40 words or more, APA has specific rules you must follow:

- Start the quotation on a new line.
- Indent the whole block from the left hand margin (1.27cm, which is the default in MS Word).
- Double-space the whole quotation.
- Do not put the quote in quotation marks.

And either:

- Cite the author and year in the text before the quotation and place only the page/para. number in parentheses after the quotation's final punctuation, or
- Cite the author and year in parentheses after the quotation's final punctuation.

For example:

As the tide of chemicals born of the Industrial Age has arisen to engulf our environment, a drastic change has come about in the nature of the most serious public health problems. For the first time in the history of the world, every human being is now subjected to dangerous chemicals from the moment of conception until death. (Carson, 2016, p. 24)

Note: The full stop is placed before the parentheses.

3.2 The Reference List

This is the list of all of the works cited in your assignment.

- It is placed on a new page after the text and before tables/figures or appendices (if any).
- Use References as the title.
- All references entries are listed alphabetically by author, or title if there is no author.
- Use the “hanging indent” style; that is, with the first line at the left margin and all following lines indented (7 spaces/1.27cm). In Microsoft Word use Ctrl+T to create a hanging indent.
- Continue using the same spacing (1.5 or double) you have used in your assignment (check with your lecturer – they may prefer single spacing).
- Use of hyperlinks is preferred but you can use plain text that is not underlined for URLs.
- Check with your lecturer as to their requirements for referencing material in presentations.

Example of a reference list (single spacing is used to conserve space in this example)

3.3 Notes on Formatting the Reference List

PRESENTING AUTHORS' NAMES

In-text citations: Use the family name of the author (e.g. Bray).

The reference list entry: Use the family name of the author followed by the initial/s of the author's first name/s (Bray, M.).

Sometimes, it can be difficult to identify the family name of the author. For example, names in Western/European culture are usually presented as First name/s followed by Family name (e.g., Mark Bray. "Mark" is the first name. "Bray" is the family name). If the family name is presented first, a comma is used to separate it from the first name or initial (e.g. Bray, Mark). To help you, look at how the author has been cited in other works and follow that format (refer to the article's reference list first, as the author's previous works might be included).

Omit academic or professional credentials, such as PhD, doctor (Dr), government or military ranks (e.g., General). Include name suffixes, such as Jnr (Junior) and Snr (Senior), in the reference list but not in the in-text citations. For example:

Jones, H. W., Jr., & Jones, H.W., Sr. (1941). My adventures in Alexandretta. The Journal of Fictional Archaeology, 1, 1-19.

In-text citations: (Jones & Jones, 1941) / Jones and Jones (1941) explored the area of Alexandretta...

PRESENTING TITLES OF WORKS IN THE REFERENCE LIST

- Book/Article titles – use upper case letters only for the first word of the title, any proper nouns and after a colon or a dash, e.g.
 - International studies: An interdisciplinary approach to global issues.
 - West Papua - A brief history.
 - Environmental science.
- Journal titles - capitalise all words, except articles and prepositions e.g.
 - Journal of the Society for Business Ethics

Note: There are different rules for presenting book titles in your text. See section 1.13.

BRACKETED DESCRIPTIONS

If the format or medium of a work helps it to be identified or retrieved, include a description in square brackets immediately after the title and before the full stop. For example:

Harwell, M. (2018). Don't expect too much: The limited usefulness of common SES measures and a prescription for change [Policy brief]. National Education Policy Centre. <https://npec...>

Examples of descriptions are:

[Blog comment]	[Online forum post]	[Press release]
[Brochure]	[Paper presentation]	[TV series episode]
[Data set]	[Photograph]	[Tweet]
[Facebook page]	[Policy brief]	[Video]
[Interview]	[PowerPoint slides]	[Webinar]

SAME FIRST AUTHOR, DIFFERENT SECOND AUTHOR

Order alphabetically by second or subsequent authors. For example:

Marvel, M., & Hulk, I. (2013). Melanoma rates increase in green-skinned people. <https://.....>

Marvel, M., & Jones, J. (2014). Women with superhuman strength ostracised. <https://.....>

WORKS BY THE SAME AUTHOR

Publications in different years

Order by year of publication (copyright year if a book), from earliest to most recent. A source with no date (n.d.) comes first. For example:

Belich, J. (1988). The New Zealand wars and the Victorian interpretation of racial conflict. Penguin.

Belich, J. (2001). Paradise reforged: A history of the New Zealanders from the 1880s to the year 2000. Allen Lane.

Belich, J. (2010). A cultural history of economics? Victorian Studies, 53(1), 116.
<https://search.ebscohost.com/login.aspx?direct=true&db=edsclr&AN=edsclr.A268652315&site=eds-live&scope=site&custid=s9929458>

PUBLICATIONS IN THE SAME YEAR

List publications that are in the same year in alphabetical order, according to the first significant words in the titles (“A” and “The” are not significant words. Add a lowercase letter (“a”, “b”, “c”, etc.) after the year, so that each reference can be cited clearly in your text. For example:

Kaufman, J. R. (2015a). Control over Middle East oil. ...

Kaufman, J. R. (2015b). Roles of Western players in Middle East politics. ...

Kaufman, J. R. (2015c). Western views on Middle East politics. ...

Note: Use “-a”, “-b”, “-c” with sources with no date (e.g., n.d.-a ; see example below).

Different webpages from a website

If you are using different webpages from the same online source, then you should make a separate entry for each of them. List the sources in alphabetical order according to the page titles. For example:

World Trade Organization. (n.d.-a). Increases in population explosion. ...

World Trade Organization. (n.d.-b). New statistics for world population. ...

World Trade Organization. (n.d.-c). Reversal of population predictions. ...

LAYERS OF GROUP AUTHORSHIP

When a work has multiple layers of group authorship, list the most specific agency as the author and the parent agency as the publisher. In the following example, the annual report has been published by the Bureau of International Organization Affairs, which is a part of the U.S. Department of State.

Bureau of International Organization Affairs. (2018). U.S. contributions to international organizations, 2017 [Annual report]. U.S. Department of State. <https://www.state.gov/u-s-contributions-to-international-organizations/>

URLS

- Always copy and paste URLs.
- Use the permalink or DOI if provided. These provide stable, long-lasting links to online articles.
- Publications with Digital Object Identifier (DOI). A DOI contains a string of numbers and letters and will always start with the number 10. Format as follows if it is not already in this form: <https://doi.org/xxx> (e.g., <https://doi.org/10.1371/journal.pone.0152979>). Don't place a full stop at the end.
- Always check that the links work (lecturers do select links of sources to look at!).

3.4 Examples of References by Type

Below are examples of how to format references for the most common kinds of sources. For further information, refer to the APA Publication Manual, or the APA Style Blog (<https://blog.apastyle.org/>).

AUTHORS

ONE AUTHOR

In-text citation examples

Over the last two decades, the global movement of people... (Lake, 2018).

or

Lake (2018) suggests that the impingement of cultures has been borne out the global...

Reference list example

Lake, I. N. (2018). When cultures collide: Leading across cultures. Yale University Press.

TWO AUTHORS

In-text citation examples

It was found that the majority ... (Fuchida & Okumiya, 1992).

or

Fuchida and Okumiya (1992) state that ...

Reference list example

Fuchida, M., & Okumiya, M. (1992). Midway: The Japanese story. Cassell & Co.

Note: In text citations: List both authors and separate their names 1) in parenthetical citations with “&” (ampersand) and 2) in narrative citations with “and”. Do not use a comma to separate the authors’ names.

Reference list: Use “&” in the reference list entry. Use a comma before the ampersand to separate the authors.

THREE OR MORE AUTHORS, UP TO 20 AUTHORS

In-text citation examples

Digital media today exists in ... (Chalkley et al., 2015).

or

Chalkley et al. (2015) state that digital media ...

Reference list example

Chalkley, T., Hobbs, M., Brown, A., Cinque, T., Warren, B., & Finn, M. (2015). Communication, digital media and everyday life (2nd ed.). Oxford University Press.

Note: For in-text citations, use only the name of the first author and place “et al.” after it (“et al.” means “and others” in Latin). Place a full stop after “al.”.

On the reference list, list all authors up to, and including, the 20th author.

21 OR MORE AUTHORS

In-text citation examples

The research shows that in the northern regions of Australia ... (Tobler et al., 2017).

or

Tobler et al. (2017) found that in the northern regions of Australia ...

Reference list example

Tobler, R., Rohrlach, A., Soubrier, J., Bover, P., Llamas, B., Tuke, J., Bean, N., Abdullah-Highfold, A., Agius, S., O'Donoghue, A., O'Loughlin, I., Sutton, P., Zilio, F., Walshe, K., Williams, A. N., Turney, C. S. M., Williams, M., Richards, S. M., Mitchell, N., ... Cooper, A. (2017). Aboriginal metagenomes reveal 50,000 years of regionalism in Australia. Nature, 544(7649), 180-184. <https://doi.org/10.1038/nature21416>

Note: For in-text citations, use only the name of the first author and place “et al.” after it. On the reference list, list the names of the first 19 authors, then place an ellipsis (...) and the name of the final author. You do not need the ampersand (&) in this case.

CORPORATE AUTHOR

In-text citation examples

The data indicate that females between the ages of ... (Australian Bureau of Statistics, 2011).

or

Data from the Australian Bureau of Statistics (2011) report indicate that...

Reference list example

Australian Bureau of Statistics. (2011). Estimated resident population by age and sex in statistical local areas, New South Wales, June 2008. Australian Government.

Note: When the author and publisher are the same, omit the publisher in the reference (see example in following section).

PUBLISHER IS ALSO THE AUTHOR

In-text citation examples

The earthquake resulted in the destruction of ... (Hawke's Bay Regional Council, 2010).

or

According to information from the Hawke's Bay Regional Council (2010) archives, the city was ...

Reference list example

Hawke's Bay Regional Council. (2010). Building an Art Deco city.

Note: When the author and publisher are the same, omit the publisher in the reference.

NO AUTHOR

Note: If the work has no author, move the title of the work to the author's position (i.e., Title. (Year). Publisher.)

1. FOR A BOOK, BROCHURE OR REPORTIn text citation examples

Senior students graduating from high school ... (College Bound Seniors, 2009).

or

The book, College Bound Seniors (2009), highlights the importance of senior students becoming...

Reference list example

College bound seniors. (2009). College Board Press.

2. FOR AN ARTICLE, CHAPTER OF A BOOK OR WEB PAGE

In text citation examples

The article in The NZ Herald reported that 2,000 people had... ("Burst Water Main...", 2016).
or

As the article "Burst Water Main Leaves Suburb Dry" (2016) stressed, the problem surrounding...

Reference list example

Burst water main leaves suburb dry. (2016, July 21). The New Zealand Herald. p. A4

Note: Month/day details are only included in the reference list entry

Use double quotation marks around the title in the in-text citation.

If the title of the work is italicized in the reference, also italicize it in the in-text citation.

Use title case for the in-text citation even though sentence case is used in the reference list entry.

Write the first three or four words of a long title, followed by an ellipsis (...).

BOOKS (PRINT AND ONLINE)

Note: APA 7 does not differentiate between the format of books, print or electronic. Cite both the same way.

Use the copyright (©) year shown on inside the front cover of the book as the date of publication.

BOOK

In-text citation examples

Key strategies that writers use ... (Roberts, 2017).

or

Roberts (2017) lists a number of key strategies ...

Reference list example

Roberts, J. Q. (2017). Essentials of essay writing: What markers look for. Macmillan International; Red Globe Press.

Note: This is the basic template: Author. (Copyright year). Title of work. Publisher/s.

In the example above there are two publishers, separated by a semi-colon.

BOOK – 2ND+ EDITION

In-text citation examples

The challenges of conducting secondary research included... (Robson, 2014).

or

Robson (2014) discusses the challenges of...

Reference list example

Robson, C. (2014). How to do a research project (2nd ed.). John Wiley & Sons.

Note: A later edition (version) of an existing book usually corrects errors and/or introduces additional material

"ed." is the abbreviation for "edition". Put in parentheses. Use a lower case "e".

Find the number of the edition on the cover, copyright page, or title page of the book.

BOOK WITH MULTIPLE PUBLISHERS

In-text citation examples

There are two arguments put forward regarding... (Suzuki & Dressel, 2004).

or

Suzuki and Dressel (2004) argue that the human species became...

Reference list example

Suzuki, D., & Dressel, H. (2004). From naked ape to super species: Humanity and the global eco-crisis (Rev. ed.). Greystone Books; David Suzuki Foundation.

Note: Write the publisher's name as it is written but omit designations, such as Inc. or Ltd.

In the example above "Rev. ed." is an abbreviation for "Revised edition"

If a book is published under the imprint of a parent publisher, then use the imprint name (e.g., Red Globe Press, not Macmillan; Prentice Hall, not Pearson).

Include all publishers listed in a book, separated with a semi-colon.

EDITED BOOK

CHAPTER IN AN EDITED BOOK

In-text citation examples

From the New Zealand educational perspective, gifted learners... (Sturgess, 2011).

or

Sturgess (2011) acknowledges the opportunities that young gifted and talented learners have within...

Reference list example

Sturgess, A. (2011). Celebrating the square peg: Twice-exceptional learners. In R. Moltzen (Ed.), Gifted and talented: New Zealand perspectives (3rd ed., pp. 379-403). Pearson.

Note: The editor's name is presented as their initial/s followed by their family name (e.g., R. Molten).

The pages of the chapter are preceded by pp. and placed in parentheses (e.g., pp.379-403).

In-text citation examples

Person concept refers to the ... (Swartz, 2019, Chapter 3, pp. 55-93).

or

Swartz (2019, p.60) uses the idea of person concept to discuss how...

Reference list example

Swartz, W. (2019). Descriptive psychology and the person concept: Essential attributes of persons and behavior. Academic Press. <https://doi.org/10.1016/C2017-0-00372-5>

Note: If all the chapters in a book are written by the same person, reference the entire book. Even if you have used different chapters, create only one reference for the book. Do not place the page numbers of the chapter you have used in the reference entry. Instead, you can indicate it in your in-text citation, or you can include a page number, to make it clear to the reader where you have taken the idea (as in the examples above).

In-text citation examples

The claims that are made regarding the cultural significance of ... (Rong, 2014)

or

Rong (2014), a political science professor, proposed that...

Reference list example

Rong, J. (2014). Lang tuteng [Wolf totem]. Changjiang Literature and Arts.

Note: English translations are placed in square brackets.

In-text citation examples

or

According to Kimura (2014/2019), the relations between the two nations...

Reference list example

Kimura, K. (2019). The burden of the past: Problems of historical perception in Japan-Korea relations (M. Speed, Trans.). University of Michigan Press. (Original work published 2014).

Note: Use both dates - the original work and the translated work.

In-text citation examples

The advantages of doing secondary research are ... (Bryne, 2017).

or

Bryne (2017) outlines three major advantages of conducting secondary research.

Reference list example

Bryne, D. (2017). Research ethics. SAGE. <https://dx.doi.org/10.4135/9781526408556>

Note: Copy the publisher's name as it is presented (e.g., SAGE is capitalised in this case).

The database name, or date of retrieval are not required.

Do not place a full stop after the DOI.

In-text citation examples

To be a successful entrepreneur does not only mean that a person must... (St-Hilaire, 2019).

or

According to St-Hilaire (2019), many entrepreneurs are successful because they ...

Reference list example

St-Hilaire, W.A. (2019). Entrepreneurship: Strategies and policies. Apple Academic Press.

Note: Cite an e-book as a print book, if it does not have a DOI and has been retrieved from a research database (e.g., Proquest eBook Central, EBSCOhost).

Include the stable link/permalink if it is provided and takes the reader directly to the full text

In-text citation examples

Culture and religion have long been considered to be ... (Tilouine, 2017).

or

Note: Omit the format, platform, or device (e.g., Kindle) but include the publisher:
If you have an open-access eBook (e.g., from JSTOR), provide the URL, provided it takes you directly to the full text without logging in.

DICTIONARY/ENCYCLOPEDIA ENTRY

Note: Capitalise the first word of the dictionary/encyclopedia's name, any proper nouns and the first word after a colon

ENTRY WITH AN AUTHOR (PRINT)

In-text citation examples

Iceland is located in the ... (Wolf, 2010).

or

Wolf (2010) explains how the nation became a popular destination for tourists...

Reference list example

ENTRY WITH NO AUTHOR (PRINT)

In-text citation examples

The ten most spoken languages in the world are ... ("Languages of the World", 2017).

or

The language of the Indigenous People of Torres Strait is used as an example in "Languages of the World" (2017) in Encyclopedia Britannica.

Reference list example

Languages of the world. (2017). In The new encyclopedia Britannica (Vol. 29, pp. 590-814).
Encyclopedia Britannica.

Note: Encyclopedia Britannica is italicized in the text as it is the name of a book (see section 1.13).
"Indigenous People" is capitalized in the example to reflect unbiased language (see section 2).

ENTRY WITH AUTHOR (ONLINE)

In-text citation example

The Manawatu River runs from the ... (McKinnon, 2015, p. 6).

or

McKinnon (2015) details the history of the area....

Reference list example

McKinnon, M. (2015). Manawatu and Horowhenua places: Manawatu River and Gorge. In Te Ara: The encyclopedia of New Zealand. <https://teara.govt.nz/en/manawatu-and-horowhenua-places/page-6>

Note: Articles in reference sources like the Te Ara Encyclopedia usually have page numbers. If you only use part of an article, you can choose to help your reader locate it by providing the page number in the in-text citation (as in the first example above).

ENTRY WITH NO AUTHOR (ONLINE)

If there is no author for the entry, treat the dictionary/encyclopedia as an edited book and move the editors to the author position.

In-text citation examples

Prejudicial treatment of people on the grounds of race is ... (Scott, 2014).

or

Discrimination (Scott, 2014) is defined as prejudicial treatment as ...

Reference list example

Scott, J. (Ed.). (2014). Discrimination. In A dictionary of sociology (4th ed.). Oxford University Press.
<https://global.oup.com/booksites/content/9780199683581/9780199683581.pdf>

Note: Use italics for the keyword you are defining it (e.g., Discrimination; see section 1.13).

2.

If there are no authors or editors, treat the company responsible for the dictionary/encyclopedia as a corporate author (e.g., Merriam-Webster; Oxford University Press).

In-text citation examples

A loanword is a word which is taken from another language and “at least partly naturalised” (Merriam-Webster, n.d.).

or

The Merriam-Webster dictionary (n.d.) defines loanword as a word which is taken from another language and “at least partly naturalised” ...

Reference list example

Merriam-Webster. (n.d.). Loanword. In Merriam-Webster dictionary. Retrieved April 2, 2021, from <https://www.merriam-webster.com/dictionary/loanword>

Note: If you are using an online dictionary, include a retrieval date before the URL if the work is likely to change over time.

ARTICLES (IN A JOURNAL, MAGAZINE, NEWSPAPER)

Note: Rules for authors are the same as for books.

JOURNAL ARTICLE (PRINT)

In-text citation examples

It is evident that “policy cannot be developed in this context without ...”(Castles et al., 2006, p. 136).

or

Castles et al. (2006) highlight the issues concerning policy

Reference list example

Castles, F. G., Curtin, J. C., & Vowles, J. (2006). Public policy in Australia and New Zealand: The new global context. Australian Journal of Political Science, 41(2), 131–143.

Note: The title of the journal and the volume number are in italics (e.g., 41 in the example above).

The issue number is in parentheses and not in italics (e.g., (2) in the example above).

Not all journals have volumes and issues.

JOURNAL ARTICLE FROM THE IPU DATABASE

In-text citation example

<https://journal.atlaanz.org/index.php/ATLAANZ/article/view/63/112>

ARTICLE NUMBERS/E-LOCATOR

In-text citation examples

The way a person carries out physical movements is associated with ... (Burin et al., 2019).

or

Burin et al. (2019) argue that the way movements are incorporated into...

Reference list example

Burin, D., Kiltner, K., Rabuffetti, M., Slater, M. & Pia, L. (2019). Body ownership increases the interference between observed and executed movements. PLOS ONE, 14(1), Article e0209899.

<https://doi.org/10.1371/journal.pone.0209899>

Note: Some online-only journals, such as PLOS ONE, have article numbers. Often, these journals start every article at page 1, so page numbers are irrelevant. Therefore, put the article number in the place of the page numbers, after the word "Article" (e.g., Article e0209899)

APA Style doesn't provide a specific citation format for PDFs. Here are some tips for dealing with them but always check with your lecturer as to their preference:

- Determine what kind of source the PDF is (e.g., a book, a journal article) and cite it in the appropriate format.
- If you're not sure what type of source it is, look for clues in the PDF (e.g., the name of the larger publication the PDF comes from) and use these to search for more information (and to confirm the quality of the source).
- Reference a PDF as a website only if there is no other reference category that fits, and the work has no parent or larger publication (e.g. journals, reports, social media, conference papers) other than the website itself. For example:

Marsden, S. (n.d.). Regional variation in NZ English. Victoria University.

https://www.wgtn.ac.nz/lals/research/projects/grinze/publications/Regional_variation_in_NZ_English.pdf

- Try to find a permalink or DOI for a journal article PDF. To find the DOI, you may need to 1) download the full PDF, or 2) copy and paste the title of the work and author's name into Google (or on IPU's Discovery Advanced Search function) and try to find the article with a DOI from a journal website or database.
- Some PDFs can only be viewed after downloading. In these cases, include the URL for the webpage from which the PDF was downloaded, on your reference list. Include [PDF] in square brackets after the title to indicate to the reader that they should download the relevant document from the site. For example:

Nursing Council of New Zealand. (2012). Code of conduct for nurses [PDF].

In the narrative citation, the name of the webpage is in italics (see section 1.13).

WEBPAGES & WEBSITES

Note:

- Provide the most specific date possible for webpages: year, month day; year, month; or year
 - Do not include the month/day details in the in-text citation
 - Many websites or webpages do not include publication dates. If no date of publication is provided, use the letters "n.d".
 - Some webpages will have a 'last updated' date, use this only if it is clearly related to the content you are citing, not if it applies to the whole website.
 - Do not use the copyright date from a webpage or website footer because this date may not indicate when the content on the site was published.
